“ I was so sorry to see of the death of your loved one and would like to extend my sympathy to you and offer words of hope, comfort and encouragement. I, personally, have enjoyed meditating on these verses during times such as this: John 5:28,29--"Do not marvel at this because the hour is coming in which all those in the memorial tombs will hear his voice and come out, those who did good things to a resurrection of life..." Isaiah 25:8--"He will actually swallow up death forever." Please know that God does care for bereaved ones and that your loved one is in his memory awaiting a resurrection where there will be no more suffering, pain, sickness or death. Please know that you are in my thoughts and prayers during this time.
