“ This mornings snow and a trip yesterday for a family funeral in the Chicago area will prevent me from being present today. I planned to do that. When I think of Mae, I think of the word "sweet." I only knew her late in life, but appreciated her loving smile and constant joy in Kenny and all around her. She was always a delight to see in the congregation showing grace and contentment with a smile. . In God's mercy, she and Kenny are now reunited, a joyous reunion. May she rest in peace in God's everlasting arms.
