The Deckard name is so familiar to me. When I saw the article, I knew it must be a relative. Sitting in New Hampshire, I scan the Linton paper daily. My mother was Beulah Deckard-McDaniel. My grandmother was Clara Deckard-Frakes. If I remember, her brothers were Ezra, James and I can't remember the other name. Each year I visit my mother's, grandmother's grave in Switz City and the next stone is James & Elizabeth's grave. (James died at 76, two years after Eva was born. I remember each August, in the late 40's and the 50's, when we would attend the "Deckard Reunion" at the Linton park. I miss those fun and innocent days. I'm sorry we lost Eva, I'm the youngest at 74, and still have my two sisters Ruby and Roselyn. We have lost Ruth and Ralph. I would love to hear from any of my cousins.
