“ My cousin Marjorie and I were close friends as well as cousins. We shared many visits and meals together. When I came to town, I always said "Don't go to a lot of trouble." She always made a big delicious meal of home-cooked food with at least one homemade pie crust filled with squash from her garden. We had good times remembering family who passed before us. She was always beautiful from high-school until her death. Marjorie, I miss you. You were a caring daughter, mother and wife. I know you are happy again with Lavon and Tonda.

“ I worked for Marjorie in Government Publications many years ago when I was undergraduate. She was always very patient and very kind. My thoughts are with her family and friends.

“ I can't express how much I will miss my dear cousin Marjorie. I remember her as a teen before she met and married Lavon. I remember her always as kind, quiet, dignified, always a lady. Over the last year she warmly invited me as house guest when I returned to Bloomington repeatedly to care for my aging mother and brother. I talked with her regularly by phone. I loved and admired Cousin Marjorie. I will miss her. Rest in heaven.
