“ Great-Grandpa was such an amazing man. We always used to go fishing down at the pond and alot of the time he would join us or we would go up to the house and show him our prized fish. He always wanted us to through back the smaller ones. I'm so blessed that he was able to be at my wedding and even get to meet my first born Colton. He was such a character. Everyone knew him. I refer to him as the mayor of Hobbieville. Even when he was in the nursing home he would talk to anyone that would listen. He would tell all kinds of stories about "the good ole days" He participated in a lot of activities there also and in a short time many of the residents knew and had befriended him. He will be greatly missed by many and I still have that giant smile in the back of my mind when I think of him. I bet he is up in Heaven throwing a line in the water with my brother. Both of them smiling from ear to ear.
