“ *To the Morris Todd family:
It saddened us greatly to learn of Morris's sudden passing. We treasured his friendship, kindness, and good natured humor. And like each of you, we will miss him greatly.
Our country would be a much better place if there were many more people like Morris. He was the quintessential American: loving God, family and country – and willing to extend a helping hand to, or brighten the day of, anyone who needed it.
We are all blessed to have known Morris and to have been able to call him a husband, dad, grandpa, brother, uncle or friend.
Although Morris's death has left a great emptiness among us, we can all be comforted knowing that he lived a wonderful long, loving, and consequential life – and that the Lord most certainly welcomed him at Heaven's Pearly Gate with open arms.
