“ My prayers are with those left behind and mourning the loss of such a great guy. Memories flood my mind of all the times spend with Scott in school. Too many to list but I can say my life was enriched and my high school years were far more enjoyable with Scott as part of it. You will be missed friend and I know you are in a better place now, no more disease or pain. My heart breaks today and sadness overwhelms me but I will see you again. Keep your great smile shining down on those you loved.

“ I am so sorry for your loss you are in my thoughts and prayers.. Scott will be missed dearly over there years we grew further and further apart but when we were younger we together a lot there on blue barn. I don't remember this but Scott would always tell me he cried in kindergarten because I didn't sit by him and that I ran off and played with the other girls and not him .. We had good times running. In the woods in my 4 Wheeler and we would watch movies together even though someone would get mad and not watch because it was a chic flick or teenage mutant turtle movie.. I remember getting chased threw the wood on a corning adventure and after the scariest chase of all I couldn't find Scott I looked looked and could not find him... Went home crying and worried about him. Just to find out he left me and was home so guess it was all good and he got me back.. O just wish we could turn back time and relive some of those days..the only thing I would of been losing touch with search other being to busy t just say hey what's up . But Scott you will be greatly missed.. Prayers sent

R.I.P Scott ❤️ I along with stephanie and the rest of the neighborhood kids enjoyed growing up down the road from Scott crawling under the fence coming and going to his house to get him to come play softball or kickball. Prays to the family ❤️
