“ Growing up, Thelma was my favorite person and as I got older I learned to appreciate her even more. When I was young, I was always excited when Thelma came to visit, ready to laugh and play silly games. She was a rock to my grandma Betty, always there to help out any way she could, especially when Papaw got so sick. I remember when she first learned to drive, and I remember how tickled she was to hold my son when he was a tiny fussy baby, which she did every chance she got. As long as I can remember, I have been thankful for her presence in our family, and I always will be.
