October 29, 1931 - June 16, 2020

Wilma Lee Sparks, 88 of Solsberry, passed away Tuesday evening, June 16th at IU Health Hospice House.

She was born in Shoals, Indiana on October 29, 1931 to Cletus and Beatrice Inman. Wilma was married to Raymond (Junior) Sparks for 67 years. She was a graduate of Solsberry High School and a member of Cincinnati Christian Church.

She was a loving mother and Christian. She spent her career at RCA, Sears, and Bloomington Developmental Learning Center. She loved her days rocking babies at BDLC. She devoted her life to raising her 5 sons. Wilma spent countless hours at sporting events and programs watching her boys, grandchildren, and great grandchildren do what they loved. She loved talking on the phone every night to her sisters. We will cherish the memories of her snapping beans, shucking corn, gardening, cooking, baking, and spoiling her grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great, great grandchildren. Her family will spend the rest of their days trying to perfect her chili and her other famous dishes. They will eventually figure out the exact measurement for handful of brown sugar.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband; her brothers Doyle

“ I worked for several years at BDLC with Wilma. She was the sweetest, kindest caregiver a baby could want. She gave them all the full on grandma treatment!
She worked harder than the girls 25 years younger, and always had a sunny disposition. All the babies loved her, and so did their parents!
Wilma was a gem.

I remember Wilma rocking those babies at BDLC. My daughter Becky was one of the babies she rocked. I visited BDLC on my lunch hour to nurse and had the privilege of watching Wilma with the other babies. You could learn a lot from watching Wilma, but she was a natural with babies and had a magic touch.
